DACA

Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) is an administrative relief from deportation for eligible immigrant youth who came to the United States when they were children. In order to be eligible, recipients must have no criminal record. DACA has been granted to 800,000 DREAMers, 222,795 of which live in California.

My Perspective

As the proud daughter of immigrants, and as someone who has worked closely with immigrant students and their families, I know that immigrants contribute to the cultural and economic well-being of California. From research and academia, to medicine, technology, agriculture, and the arts, immigrants are enriching our state.

I STAND WITH

DREAMERS

What California is Doing to Protect DREAMers:

- Attorney General Xavier Becerra is taking the lead on a lawsuit against the repeal of DACA federal Administration
- Legislative leaders and Governor Jerry Brown have agreed to provide $30 million in assistance to DREAMers
- $500,000 grant has been made available to cover the cost of renewing the applications of University of California, California State University and California community college students under DACA

2017 Legislation

I Supported on Immigration

- AB 291, Immigrant Tenant Protection Act of 2017 - Safeguards against potential harassment, retaliation, or discrimination against tenants based on their immigration or citizenship status
- AB 450 - Requires employers to only allow ICE on premises if presented a warrant, only provide documentation if presented a subpoena
- SB 54, California Values Act - Limits state law enforcement cooperation with Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE)
- HR 66 - Urges Congress to develop a more effective version of DACA that provides a pathway to citizenship
- AB 343 - Allows refugees and other special immigrant visa holders to attend California State Universities and California Community Colleges at the resident tuition rate
